June 2025

There are 9 summer teamers going to Croatia with us from June 18-28. This week, we met (pictured above at our house) to begin learning the songs and Bible story skits, and discuss logistics for the VBS and teen clubs we will be holding for the Roma kids. 100% of the funding we needed to send our family has been donated! PTL! Thank you to those who prayed and gave for that need!

I fell and broke my nose Sunday morning before preaching at a supporting church in Illinois. After holding the services, the ER confirmed that it is broken and I will have surgery on 5/28.

We've enjoyed speaking at three churches in Iowa and Illinois, as well as locally at a Bible college prayer meeting. It is a joy to have so many people interested in learning about Bible translation who are praying for us and supporting us in this work!

In order to differentiate the languages, I'll be referring to the language in which we finished the NT and are now doing the OT, as "Serbian Arli" and the new language we just started and for which we are translating Matthew, as "Macedonian Arli". These two languages are different enough to need their own separate Bible translations, but close enough to share many features which makes the consultant checking process much faster. One is spoken mainly in Serbia, while the other is spoken mainly in North Macedonia.

Some of our translators held a Bible camp recently with 150 young people and used our newly translated Serbian Arli New Testament!

The Serbian Arli team is now recording the New Testament with plans to publish and distribute the NT in print and audio this Fall or early Winter.

The Serbian Arli NT is being used in a new church started among Roma in Germany. One lady said she had been reading the Bible in Serbian, but after understanding the meaning of "love" in the Serbian Arli language, she grasped the idea of God's love and came to Christ.

Another woman had been reading the Bible in Serbian for over 20 years, but when she read the Genesis draft in the Chergash language (her Roma mother tongue), she understood it for the first time.

So far this quarter, we have consultant-checked 560 verses, including chapters in Genesis in Serbian Arli, and Matthew in Macedonian Arli.

Pam enjoyed a Mother's Day outing with the kids in Kansas City, and I visited my mom in the nursing home in Oklahoma City. Daniel has been making lots of repairs on our home, including replacing the front porch supports and railings.

Ariela acted and sang in "Junie B. Jones", giving four performances at their school, Mighty Roots Academy, while Daniel ran the sound.

Thank you for your love and support.
